Mare Island Naval Base

BY REAR ADM. J. H. CARSON, USN
Commander

ACROSS the Napa River from Vallejo, California, is the Pacific Coast's oldest naval base, once known merely as Mare Island, now officially designated as Mare Island-Vallejo Area, U. S. Naval Base, San Francisco. Mare Island, Vallejo, California. Established by Commander David G. Farragut on September 16, 1854, with a work force consisting of a team of oxen and a dozen men, the Mare Island base now covers 2,300 acres, employs 14,000 people, and has a book value of about $150,000,000, not including its inventory stocks.

RAADM. Carson

Until 1945, naval activity on Mare Island was under the jurisdiction of the Commandant of the Mare Island Navy Yard. On November 30 of that year, the Navy Yard was disestablished and the Mare Island-Vallejo Area Command formed, with an Area Commander named to coordinate logistical services to fleet operating forces by these individual command activities: Mare Island Naval Shipyard; Naval Hospital, Mare Island; Naval Ammunition Depot, Mare Island; Marine Barracks, Mare Island, and, at near-by Port Chicago, the Naval Magazine, Port Chicago. Actually located on Mare Island, but not under military command of the Area Commander, are: Submarine Force, Pacific Fleet Administration; Mare Island Group, Pacific Reserve Fleet, and the Naval Radio Station, Mare Island.

Largest of these activities is the Mare Island Naval Shipyard, which with its approximately 12,000 civilian employees, has the mission of logistic support to the fleet, including overhaul, repair, and dry-docking of types from submarines to cruisers; design and construction of submarines; overhauls of Reserve Fleet

Budget Bureau Rejects Home Loan Plan; Action Seen Major Set-Back to Program

The Budget Bureau has rejected the Defense Department proposal to make more than 3,000,000 Servicemen eligible for Home Loan benefits.

The action is seen at the Pentagon as the first major reversal in the campaign to raise the attractiveness of military service.

Officials say it still is possible the Budget Bureau may change its position, but they concede that at the moment, unless Congress moves on its own initiative, the Home Loan proposal appears doomed.

In view of the demonstrated effort on Capitol Hill to improve conditions of military service, it is possible that such legislation will be sponsored without a request from the Pentagon—impossible in view of the Budget Bureau decision.

During recent months, Pentagon leaders have urged repeatedly that men in uniform be given equitable treatment insofar as Home Loan benefits are concerned with those who leave active duty.

Assistant Defense Secretary John A. Hannah has been leading the fight for such equity. He has stated that the Services are handicapped greatly in retaining Non-Coms and young officers because of the benefits which are available to them only if they leave active duty.

Dr. Hannah estimates that in many cases these benefits are worth as much as $5,000.

Defense officials had counted on the Home Loan proposal as a top item in the current "attractiveness" campaign.

The feeling was that since these benefits automatically become available to men who are honorably separated from

Kaplan Retirement Report Paves Way For New Service Survivor Benefit Bill

A comprehensive Survivor Benefits Bill, expected to put everyone in uniform under Social Security, is being proposed for transmittal to Capitol Hill.

The measure was held up pending receipt of the report from the Kaplan Commission, which has been investigating retirement procedures for all Government personnel, both civilian and military.

The Commission has now submitted its findings and these will be reflected in the Pentagon legislation.

As THE JOURNAL went to press, tight secrecy surrounded the Commission's recommendations.

Whether or not Professor Kaplan and his associates recommended any form of a contributory retirement plan for members of the Armed Services could not be ascertained.

Such a proposal has had strong support from outside the Pentagon during recent years, particularly in the Bureau of the Budget.

The Defense Department long ago completed its own study of the Survivor Benefits problem and took under advisement a task force report which urged that all Servicemen be placed under Social Security.

This group said also that steps should be taken to equalize benefits, pointing

Pentagon Plans New Housing Program; Bill Asks Only 20 Quarters In U. S.

Defense Department officials this week were at work on a new housing program, necessity for which was emphasized by disclosure that only 20 family dwelling units in the United States are asked in the $896,976,000 Military Public Works authorization bill sent to Congress this week.

In face of the need for thousands of family quarters, the Public Works Bill asks a total of 230 units, all but the 20 overseas.

A Pentagon spokesman said that representatives of the Assistant Secretaries of Defense for Manpower and Personnel, Properties and Installations and the Comptrollers were coordinating the proposed housing program.

There are reports the Pentagon may recommend establishment of a capital fund for construction of quarters for military families, with rental allowances to be used to repay the costs.

This apparently would supplement the Wherry Housing program.

The new Public Works Bill includes $110,325,000 for aircraft control and warning systems for the United States and

Army Green Uniform Wear Starts Oct. '55

The Army has set 1 Oct. 1955 as the target date for soldiers to begin wearing the new uniform—now officially "Army Green"—which will have a black necktie, black shoes and eliminate the Eisenhower Jacket.

Heretofore, the proposed garb was known as the "Gray-Green Uniform."

In a special showing of the uniform for members of the Senate Armed Services Committee, Maj. Gen. Robert N. Young, Assistant Chief of Staff, G-1, said the Army "must provide a dignified and distinctive uniform if we are to have individuals serving with pride in themselves and their Army." The present OD uniform "fails to provide the basis for this pride and distinction," he added.

Detailed plans for clothing male troops, both officer and enlisted, in the new "Army Green," were outlined to the Committee by Lt. Col. William D. Wise of General Young's staff. He said troops will be issued the uniform on a phased basis, and emphasizing that officers will not be required to obtain the new garb until their old uniforms are worn out.

The first major change will begin in October 1955 when the Army will discontinue its present policy of issuing two sets of ODs to each enlisted man. At that time, the issue will be changed to one OD uniform and one "Army Green" uniform. As the OD garments are worn out, they will be replaced by the new wearing apparel.

General Young noted that the uniform change is one of the steps being taken by the Army to increase career attractiveness. He said the Army is determined to "take every possible step to attract and retain men of the highest quality" and the uniform "is a very important factor" in any such effort.

The new uniform, General Young told the Committee, "will insure that every soldier has a uniform that will allow him to perform his duties, to appear with pride and distinction, and to meet and mingle with his civilian and military contemporaries without apology."

Assistant Secretary of Defense John A. Hannah said the new uniform will not

AF COMPLETES PROMOTION SELECTION

The Air Force has completed its selections for officer temporary promotions during the current fiscal year with release this week of the names of 250 lieutenant colonels chosen for advancement to colonel and 597 majors to lieutenant colonel. A few promotions were made this week.

Earlier, the Air Force released the names of 2075 USAF List captains selected for major and 3963 USAF List first lieutenants selected for major. On Page 969 of this issue, the names of the new selections and Air Force promotion schedules are published.

Academy Site Commission Launches Study; Unanimous Recommendation Seen Likely

The Air Force Academy Site Selection Commission, after studying more than 400 proposed locations, is expected to come up with a unanimous recommendation for Air Force Secretary Harold E. Talbott.

Pentagon observers believe that the Commission will hold as many sessions as necessary in order to reach agreement on a single site.

Such a success, it is pointed out, would greatly reduce the political problems involved in obtaining funds from Congress for its construction.

The Air Force Academy Authorization Act, Public Law 325, stipulates that the Air Force Secretary must select the site recommended by the Commission if the recommendation is unanimous.

Otherwise, he must select a site from among the first three recommended by the Commission.

At work this week on the task of picking the site was a Commission consisting of two military members, General Carl A. Spaatz, USAF-Ret., first Chief of Staff of the Air Force, and Lt. Gen. Hubert R. Harmon, USAF-Ret., recalled to active duty as Special Assistant to the Chief of Staff for Air Force Academy Matters, and three civilian members, one of them Brig. Gen. Charles A. Lindbergh, USAF, only recently appointed by President Eisenhower to that rank.

The other two civilian members are President Virgil M. Hancher of the University of Iowa and Merrill C. Meigs, vice president of the Hearst Corporation and senior consultant on aviation in the War Production Board during WWII.

The Commission is reviewing more than 400 sites which have been proposed to earlier groups and will also study any additional recommendations made before 21 April.

Here are the major factors which the Site Selection Commission will consider in making its recommendation or recommendations to Secretary Talbott:

1. ACREAGE. The Academy will require facilities for a four-year academic and flying training program. In addition to classrooms, library, laboratories, dormitories, etc., provision must be made for a modern flying field, rifle and machine gun ranges, maneuver areas, athletic fields, and for possible future expansion. It is estimated that 15,000 acres will be required.

2. TOPOGRAPHY. The Air Academy will become a national monument as are West Point and Annapolis. In selecting the permanent location consideration will be given to the natural beauty of the site and of the surrounding country as well as to the availability of level ground suitable for a modern flying field.

3. COMMUNITY ASPECTS. Consideration will be given to the character and variety of educational institutions, religious, cultural, and recreational facilities, readily accessible to the site. Consideration will be given also to accommodations for parents and friends of cadets visiting the Academy.

4. CLIMATE. A four-seasonal climate without extremes of heat or cold is desirable. Other climatic considerations are: precipitation; depth and duration of snow cover; temperature; humidity; fog, wind, and dust conditions.

5. WATER SUPPLY. An adequate and dependable water supply is essential. It is estimated that 3,000,000 gallons per day will be required.

6. UTILITIES. Electric power and natural gas or other fuel will be required. Consideration will be given to the location of existing power and pipe lines with respect to the site.

7. TRANSPORTATION. Cadets and visitors will come from all parts of the country. Consideration will be given to the convenience of the site with respect to railway, airline, and highway systems.

8. COST. Factors to be considered are the cost of the land and necessary easements, preparation of the site, removal or relocation of existing installations, access roads, railroad spurs, the construction index for the particular location, etc.

9. FLYING TRAINING. Flying training, both airplane observer and airplane pilot, will be included in the courses of instruction. Under this factor consideration will be given to the extent to which other air traffic might interfere with this training.

placed on the program was evident by a citation and editorial tribute to the working relationship developed."

SILVER ANVIL

The Silver Anvil Trophy of the American Public Relations Association, the highest award given in the public relations field, has been presented to the National Guard for its 1953 recruiting program.

The award was accepted by Maj. Gen. Edgar C. Erickson, Chief of the National Guard Bureau, at a luncheon this week of the Association in New York.

The Guard was cited for its "unusual, well-rounded program which made effective use of almost every type of public relations technique," and which was executed with "imagination and showmanship."

BILL ASKS BELATED HONOR

Belated recognition to eight Army commanders of WWII—two of them killed in action and another deceased—will come if Congress votes approval for legislation sponsored by Representative Paul Kilday (D-Tex.). His bill, H.R. 6003, on which the House Armed Services Committee has held hearings, would authorize the President to appoint in the grade of General "those officers who, while serving in the grade of lieutenant general, but virtue of assignment, respectively, were commanding generals of the Army Ground Forces at any time between 8 March 1942 and 16 August 1945, or who were each in command, respectively, as Army commander of an army of the United States in either the European-African-Middle Eastern Theater of Operations at any time between 11 December 1941 and 8 May 1945 or in the Asiatic-Pacific Theater of Operations at any time between 8 December 1941 and 16 August 1945."

The bill then would affect these lieutenant generals:

Leslie J. McNair (K In Action 27 July 1944).

Simon B. Buckner, (K In Ac 18 June 1945).

Alexander M. Patch (Deceased).

Ben Lear.

William H. Simpson.

Lucian Truscott.

Leonard T. Gerow.

Speaking for the Defense Department, Brig. Gen. H. B. Powell, Army Deputy G-1, told a House hearing:

"The enactment of this legislation is favored since it will accord suitable recognition of the distinguished services of these officers in positions of great responsibility which they occupied. It would serve the purpose of conferring the honor and prestige of four-star rank on those individuals who, over a period of time, were either Army Commanders in combat or had the tremendous responsibility of commanding Army Ground Forces during WW II. These positions called for the rank of General, but in the press of the war, the eight general officers concerned were not promoted before demobilization began. These promotions would be in keeping with the rank accorded other Army officers who held similar wartime commands during the same limiting periods."

The enactment of this legislation would not involve additional cost to the Government. The bill specifically provides that no increase of basic or retired pay or allowances would result.

Army Gives $799,486 to AER-ARS Fund Campaign

The joint annual fund campaign of Army Emergency Relief and Army Relief Society for 1953 has just been concluded with the most gratifying results, indicating ever increasing Army wide support.

A total of $799,486 was contributed by members of the Army, which is particularly significant because it is expressly contrary to policy to resort to any coercive or high pressure methods of solicitation. On the other hand, contributions were entirely voluntary and were made on a basis of soliciting a small contribution of not over $1.00 from each officer and 50 cents from each enlisted man in the Army.

The outstanding results attained clearly show that nearly every member of the Army will make his small contribution if offered the opportunity, thereby fostering in the individual soldier his responsibility for caring for the welfare of the big Army family.

In 1953 AER greatly expanded its operations, especially in U. S. Army Europe and the Far East Command and materially strengthened its position as an important morale and welfare factor in the Army. During 1953 $2,258,796 was disbursed throughout the Army both at home and overseas in rendering financial assistance to members of the Army and their dependents as compared to $1,662,187 in 1952; $1,196,904 in 1951 and $690,129 in 1950.

The Army Relief Society in 1953 expended over $85,000 in providing assistance to needy widows and orphans of personnel of the Regular Army.

The campaign for 1954 was initiated on 1 April by the Director, AER, Maj. Gen. Edward F. Witsell, USA-Ret. The campaign is conducted under provisions of Section V, AR 910-10, the time and method of conducting it being left entirely to the discretion of each local or higher commander. General M. B. Ridgway, the Chief of Staff of the Army, dispatched on that date to all Continental Army Commanders, the Commanding General, Military District of Washington and the commanders of all major commands overseas a message in support of this year's campaign.

SecDef Wilson Presents DSM to Maj. Gen. Henry

Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson on 7 April presented the Distinguished Service Medal (First Oak Leaf Cluster) to Maj. Gen. Guy V. Henry, USA-Ret., who is retiring as U. S. Chairman of the Permanent Joint Board on Defense, Canada-United States. General Henry was formerly Chief of Cavalry of the Army.

The citation was read by Dr. John A. Hannah, Assistant Secretary of Defense (Manpower and Personnel), who is succeeding General Henry as Chairman of the U. S. section of the Joint Board.

The presentation was made in the presence of a group of U. S. and Canadian officials and others, including Mrs. Henry, the wife of the General; General A. G. L. McNaughton, of Canada, Chairman of the Canadian section of the Joint Defense Board, and Mrs. McNaughton; and Lt. Gen. Stanley D. Embick, USA-Ret., who was the first U. S. Army representative on the original board.

The citation for the award follows:

"Major General Henry distinguished himself by exceptionally meritorious service in a position of great responsibility as Acting Chairman and later, Chairman of the United States Section, Permanent Joint Board on Defense, Canada-United States from 8 Dec. 1948 to 27 Jan. 1954. Recalled by the President to the service of his country in this civilian capacity after the termination of an unusually brilliant military career of more than one-half of a century in the United States Army, he was given the important responsibility of representing the President of the United States in harmonizing the views of both nations in all political-military matters relating to collaborative action in the defense of the northern half of the Western Hemisphere. As a consequence of his devotion to duty, his leadership, and his ability to use most effectively his vast military experience and knowledge of international affairs, the two governments have combined in common planning and the mutual execution of programs of vital importance to the security of the northern half of the Western Hemisphere. His tactful and sincere approach has gained the full cooperation and confidence of the high authorities of the Canadian Government and the respect and admiration of all those that have been associated with him. General Henry has made, as a result of his personnel efforts, the major individual contribution to the unparalleled harmonious military relationships that presently exist between Canada and the United States, and has thereby brought great distinction to himself and honor to the United States."

Gen. Lawton Wins DSM

Maj. Gen. William S. Lawton, commander of the Korean Communications Zone, recently was awarded the first Oak Leaf Cluster to the Distinguished Service Medal at the Tokyo headquarters of the Far Eastern Command.

Seattle Port Takes Traffic From S. F.

The bulk of Army replacements for the Far East and Alaska, and all Army personnel returning from Korea, will be routed through the Seattle Port of Embarkation in the future instead of through both Seattle and San Francisco.

The shift in operations of nine P2 type Navy transports, effective 1 May, will be for an experimental period of three months to determine the adequacy of service being rendered.

In the change seven MSTs transports will shift operations from San Francisco to Seattle. Of these seven ships, three are commissioned naval ships, equipped to transport military dependents and troops: USS General W. A. Mann, USS General W. M. Mitchell and the USS General G. M. Randall. The other four ships, the USNS General W. H. Gordon, USNS General M. C. Meigs, USNS General John Pope and USNS General William Weigel, are austerity type troopships used for the transportation of military personnel exclusively.

The USNS General Hugh J. Gaffey and USNS General Simon B. Buckner, dependent type troop transports, will shift operations from Seattle to San Francisco.

Upon completion of the transfer of ships, MSTs will be operating 11 transports out of San Francisco and 15 transports from Seattle on Far East runs.

MAJ. CHARLES H. COOKE (right), is congratulated by Brig. Gen. Don Z. Zimmerman, Deputy for Intelligence, Headquarters, Far East Air Forces in Tokyo, after receiving the Bronze Star Medal for "meritorious service as editor-in-chief of the FEAF Intelligence 'Roundup'." In this and all other responsibilities delegated to him during that period, he exercised sound judgment, initiative and intelligence which reflected great credit upon himself, the Far East Air Forces and the United States Air Force." Major Cooke's wife and son live at 2244 N. Nottingham St., Arlington, Va.

"THE NAKED WILL TO WIN"

The following is a statement made by General Lemuel C. Shepherd, jr., Marine Corps Commandant, on "Why a Rifleman in the Atomic Age?" This declaration was made in connection with the recent meeting in Washington, D. C. of the National Rifle Association.

"The age of atomic warfare is here; it cannot be ignored; it must admittedly govern both the design of our equipment and the development of our tactics.

"Even accepting the possibility of mass atomic exchanges in war, we must still return to basic principles if we hope to win that war. There will come a time after such exchanges when someone will surely conclude that the only way to end the destruction will be to seize the source of the enemy's atomic strength.

"There is where the infantryman comes back on the scene, together with his weapons and the science of transport and supply. In the Marine Corps we recognize the inevitability of this cycle, this ever-constant return to basic principles. Realizing this, we make every effort to concentrate on simplicity—the direct process of getting Marines where we want them to be, no matter what opposition they may meet on the way.

"We know that the greatest single reason for our past performance, and the key to our future, lies in the individual Marine. Stripped of all the mechanisms of war, final success in the assault can only be found in the naked will to win."

Nationwide AF Airlift Speeds Deliveries, Saves

The Air Force has established a domestic nationwide airlift system to speed deliveries of Air Force supplies and reduce transportation costs.

The airlift, known as Mercury Service, will be operated on a contract basis with Capitol Airways, Inc., of Nashville, Tenn., and the American Air Export and Import Co., of Miami, Fla.

Designed to connect Air Force Depots and aerial ports in the U. S., the airlift is under the jurisdiction of Headquarters, Air Materiel Command, at Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio, which will be responsible for scheduling and space allocation. Ground handling of supplies, loading and unloading will be provided by Air Force personnel.

The airlift will not duplicate the operations of MATS. It will operate on a specific daily schedule, and serve major Air Force Depots throughout the U. S., the aerial ports of embarkation, and leading industrial centers.

Five trips a week will service the following Air Force bases: Kelly AFB, Tex., Brookley AFB, Ala., Warner-Robins AFB, Ga., Olmsted AFB, Pa., Westover AFB, Mass., Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio, Tinker AFB, Okla., Hill AFB, Utah, McClellan AFB, Calif., Norton AFB, Calif., and McChord AFB, Wash.

Limited Officer Openings In Ground Observer Corps

Air Force officers in the grade of lieutenant through major, who return to this country from overseas bases, and who have at least two years obligated service remaining and who do not possess a limited resource specialty may volunteer for duty with the Ground Observer Corps.

The limited number of personnel selected for this duty will train and indoctrinate civilian volunteers engaged in spotting, reporting and tracking aircraft for Air Defense Command. They also will work with state Civil Defense Agencies in recruiting additional volunteers from the civilian populace.

Although public speaking experience would be helpful for personnel desiring to enter this field, no formal training along these lines is necessary, the Air Force said. The principal qualification necessary to successfully execute duties in the Ground Observer Corps is an ability to meet the public, both individually and in groups, it was stated.

Officers selected for this duty will attend a special two-week course at Tyndall AFB, Fla., where public speaking will be stressed along with other phases of the background required for this work.

New AF Stat. Chief

Brig. Gen. Llewellyn O. Ryan, Deputy for Comptroller, FEAF, will report to Washington in July to be Director of Statistical Services at USAF Headquarters.

He has been in the Far East since September 1951, going there from the National War College, where he was a student.

HOLD THE COFFEE LINE

The Army-Air Force Exchange Service is putting up a gallant defense of the nickel cup of coffee.

"We are holding the line on the five-cent cup," a spokesman at headquarters in New York City said late this week. He conceded that wholesale prices could make nickel coffee a casualty, but said that every effort will be made to maintain the traditional five-cent coffee on the active list at all exchanges.

USAF Opens O'Seas School To Train MDAP Pilots

The U. S. Air Forces in Europe opened on 5 April at Wiesbaden, Germany, the first USAF Flying School in Europe for pilots of MDAP recipient countries.

Students are previously qualified pilots who will serve their own Air Forces as instructors on the aircraft and aviation equipment supplied them under the MDAP.

The first class will have 18 students, five from the Netherlands, 10 Turks, and three Spaniards. These students, who speak and read English, will remain at the school after graduation to assist the American instructors in training future classes.

Courses are from five to six weeks. The school, operated by the 7330th Training Group, was organized by Col. Mark H. Vinzant, jr., formerly Director of Flying Training of the Air Training Command.

The MDAP airmen will be trained in academic principles, jet aircraft transition and teaching flying. Jet (T-33) and conventional trainers (T-6) will be used at the school.

More than 90 per cent of the instructors came directly from Air Training Command schools.

White Uniform Order

The Army, disturbed because some enlisted personnel have been noted in white work uniforms which appeared "unkempt" and were without proper grade identifications, has issued an order to rectify this condition.

In Circular 29, the Army ordered all commanders to take appropriate measures "to insure that the white work uniform issued to authorized personnel is in the correct size; is maintained in a clean, neat and starched condition; and is worn with proper insignia and chevrons."

USMA GETS GIFT

General Putnam's Orderly Book, a valuable Revolutionary War document, will be presented to West Point today by Mrs. Arthur Block of Philadelphia, Pa., in honor of her late husband.

An equally rare document, General Heath's Orderly Book, was donated to the Academy library several years ago by Mrs. Block. After the presentation ceremony today, Mrs. Block will be honored by a luncheon in the Superintendent's quarters.

General Putnam's Orderly Book dates from the Revolutionary War when he was stationed at West Point.

Gen. Lanham to AFSC

Maj. Gen. Charles T. "Buck" Lanham, USA, who has been CG of the 1st Infantry Division in Germany since January 1953, will become deputy commandant of the Armed Forces Staff College, Norfolk, Va., this summer.

He will serve under Lt. Gen. David M. Schlatter, USAF, commander of Allied Air Forces Southern Europe, who will replace the retiring commandant, Lt. Gen. Andrew D. Bruce, USA.

General Lanham had served as chief of public information at SHAPE under President Eisenhower before going to the 1st Infantry Division.

Gen. Sink to Caribbean

Maj. Gen. Robert F. Sink, CG of the 44th Infantry Division, Ft. Lewis, Wash., has been appointed new commander of the USA, Caribbean, with headquarters at Ft. Amador, Panama, Canal Zone.

General Sink will be succeeded by Maj. Gen. Lionel C. McGarr, CG of the 7th Infantry Division in Korea. No date has been set for the switch in commands, but Maj. Gen. Lester J. Whitlock, whom General Sink will succeed, will retire 31 July.

Navy Studies Officer Promotion Exams; Seen Likely To Follow Pre-WWII System

Studies are now underway in the Navy Department with a view toward reestablishing officer promotion examinations.

Although the plans, at this time have "not firmed up," it is likely the promotion examinations will follow the pattern which existed in the past.

Officer promotion examinations date back to 1864; they were eliminated during WWII and the Korean War, when promotions were made by AINav.

In the past, the examinations were given to those officers who had been named for promotion by a selection board. Those affected were lieutenants (jg) through captains.

After selection by a board, the selectees were given written tests designed to indicate their professional and mental capabilities. At the same time their fitness reports were studied to determine their moral qualifications.

If a candidate failed to pass the professional or mental examination, he was permitted to take it again after a six-month period. After a second failure, the candidate was severed from the service.

Failure to pass on moral grounds, after being selected, was cause for severance from the service.

Upon separation from the service, the officer concerned was given two months' severance pay for each year of service, not exceeding two years of pay. An officer who had 20 or more years of service, upon separation, was entitled to two and a half per cent of his pay for each year of service.

'Copters to England

The Navy will ship eight HSL-1 anti-submarine helicopters to England under the military aid program.

Greaves, MC, USN, left, who has been designated Inspector Naval Medical Activities, Pacific Coast, with headquarters at Treasure Island, San Francisco.

Confirm Marine Generals

Three Marine Corps Reserve officers were confirmed this week for appointment in new general officer ranks. They are Maj. Gen. Karl S. Day, and Brigadier Generals John D. Macklin and Bertrand T. Fay.

LCDR. FRANCIS X. BRADY prepares to climb into his Grumman F9F-6 Cougar at Floyd Bennett Field, Brooklyn, N. Y., shortly after setting an unofficial transcontinental speed record on 1 April. Refueling in flight at Hutchinson, Kansas, Brady made the cross-country trip from San Diego, Calif., in three hours, 45 minutes and 30 seconds, beating the official coast-to-coast record by more than 22 minutes.

Quarters Available at Toro For Families of Men O'Seas

Families of Marines who are assigned to Aviation units of the 1st MAF overseas are eligible for housing in the Wherry Park development at MCAS, El Toro, Calif.

A letter from the El Toro Housing Officer to the Station Housing Officer also said that Title VIII Wherry housing units, which are adjacent to El Toro, are available to officer and enlisted personnel of all ranks immediately upon reporting for duty at the MCAS or the Marine Corps Air Facility, Santa Ana, Calif.

USMC Selection Board Meets

The USMC has convened a selection board to consider officers in the following categories:

A. All Reserve first lieutenants eligible for temporary promotion to captain.

B. All Reserve officers eligible for consideration to first lieutenant.

C. All Reserve warrant officers eligible for promotion to permanent commissioned warrant officer and advancement to pay grade W-2.

D. All Reserve commissioned warrant officers eligible for consideration for advancement to pay grade W-3.

There will be approximately 1,200 Reserve first lieutenants not on active duty considered for temporary captain.

The Marine Corps said it is anticipated the Secretary of the Navy will authorize the promotions in the near future.

There is no zone for temporary promotion.

Membership of the board is as follows: Col. Raymond F. Crist, jr., President; Lieutenant Colonels Elmer W. Myers, USMCR; Helen G. O'Neill, USMCR; Dayton A. Swickard, USMCR; Hardy Hay, USMC; Clarence W. Osburn, USMCR; Daniel S. Warner, USMCR; Gordon R. Worthington, jr., USMCR; Robert E. Brown, USMC; Majors Edward W. Gallagher, USMC; Bernard M. Boress, USMC, and Capt. Rudolph A. Kolasek, USMCR, Recorder.

60 Marines Declared Dead

Sixty Marines, who were listed as missing in action in Korea, have now been officially declared dead.

This raises the total number of Marine deaths in Korea to approximately 4,200.

As of 31 March, 55 Marines still remained in a missing in action status.

USMC Publishes Guam Story

Marine Headquarters has announced publication of "The Recapture of Guam," the twelfth of a series of Marine Corps historical monographs on WWII.

The 214-page volume, by Maj. Orlan R. Lodge, USMC, includes maps, photographs, statistics and accounts of the campaign from both the American and the Japanese point of view.

Purple Heart veterans of the Guam campaign may obtain free copies of the book by writing to the Commandant of the Marine Corps (Code AO3D), Headquarters, Marine Corps, Washington 25, D. C. Others may purchase the volume (catalogue number D214.2:G93/2) for $4.25 from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C.

Capt. White to Madrid

Capt. Joseph White, CEC, USN, arrived in Spain this week where he will be Deputy Officer in Charge of Construction for the Military Construction Program under Capt. Robert H. Meade, CEC, USN.

Captain White, whose last assignment was on the staff of the Supreme Allied Commander at Atlantic Headquarters in Norfolk, Va., entered the service in 1934 as a second lieutenant in the Army Field Artillery, and transferred to the Navy in 1937.

Bob Sherrod's "Tarawa" to Raise Fund For Deserving Children of 2d Marines

A Special Tenth Anniversary Edition of Robert Sherrod's memorable "Tarawa—The Story of a Battle" will be published during the month of April as a practical tribute to the Marines who lost their lives on its beaches.

The anniversary edition will lay the foundation for a fund with which the Second Marine Division Association will finance college education for deserving sons and daughters of the Division's heroic dead.

According to Brig. Gen. David M. Shoup, who won the Medal of Honor on Tarawa, a portion of the price of every book sold will be earmarked specifically for that purpose. Additional direct contributions to the fund will be accepted and placed one hundred per cent to the credit of the fund. Plans for management of the fund already are being worked out.

One feature of the Tenth Anniversary Edition will be a new foreword by the author, in which the famed correspondent sums up his reaction from the perspective of today.

Another feature will be the thoughts—"after 10 years"—of Fleet Adm. Chester

W. Nimitz, Lt. Gen. Julian C. Smith, Maj. Gen. Merritt A. Edson, General Shoup, Col. Henry P. Crowe and a score of others who played a vital role in that battle.

As Admiral Nimitz says, "Never before was such a tough job done so completely in such a short time."

Ten years later, the job of building a fund for the children of fallen comrades promises to be done just as completely. Copies of the Tenth Anniversary Edition may be ordered from The Tarawa Book Fund Association c/o Brig. Gen. D. M. Shoup, P. O. Box 2042 Potomac Station, Alexandria, Va., at $2.50 per single copy; $2.00 per copy in lots of five or more, postpaid anywhere.

Continued GROWTH and PROGRESS revealed in 32nd Annual Report of UNITED SERVICES AUTOMOBILE ASSOCIATION

It is gratifying to report that 1953 was one of the most successful years in the 32 years history of the Association.

During 1953 the Association wrote $18,751,449.35 in automobile and household insurance premiums, an increase of $5,691,212.36 over 1952. This increase in business of 43.58% was the largest premium volume of new business written in any year of the Association's history.

Several factors enter into this very satisfactory showing. In 1952 the Association extended its services to the Continent of Europe, thus permitting many officers to continue their policies with the Association when ordered to Europe. Many other officers took out their first policies with the Association because of this territorial extension. Further, persons in active military service continued to find it difficult to obtain insurance through normal channels. The Association is particularly geared to serve this type of risk as the increase in the total number of members shows. As of December 31, 1953 there were 179,840 members carrying 227,380 policies, reflecting an increase of 34.31% in members and 33.71% in policies.

New Register Shows 242 Regular Air Force Officers Resigned Service During 1953

The Air Force lost 242 Regular officers by resignation during 1953, including seven permanent colonels and 18 lieutenant colonels.

This is disclosed in the newly released official Air Force Register, available at a cost of $3.50 from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C.

The volume discloses that the Air Force made a net gain of only 390 Regular officers last year, beginning 1954 with 23,137 on the active lists, compared with 22,747 a year earlier.

In addition to the 242 resignations, there were 130 retirements, 16 temporary disability retirements, 152 deaths, 4 dismissals, 69 honorable discharges, 6 revocations of commission and 4 transfers out—a total of 623 losses.

This was offset by 1011 appointments and 2 transfers.

The Register shows that as of 1 Jan. 1954, the USAF Promotion List included 54 permanent major generals, 59 brigadier generals, 1215 colonels, 3796 lieutenant colonels, 4961 majors, 6233 captains, 2880 first lieutenants and 1960 second lieutenants.

Gen. Wray to Robins

Brig. Gen. Stanley T. Wray will become deputy commander of the Warner Robins Air Materiel Area, Robins AFB, Ga., in July following duty in Washington since June 1950.

He has served as chief of the construction division in the Directorate of Installations, assistant deputy director and deputy director of installation and director of facilities.

Col. Jurkens to Lackland As Officer School CO

Col. Edward A. Jurkens has been named commander of the USAF Officer Candidate School at Lackland AFB, Tex.

He succeeds Col. Lamont Saxton, who will remain at Lackland as plans and training officer of the USAF Officer Military Schools. Colonel Jurkens recently completed a two-year tour as USAF member of the directing staff of the RAF Staff College at Brackwell, England.

Brookley Host to Dep. Sec. Def. and Air Asst. Sec.

TWO of Washington's top civilian officials in the Defense Department visited Brookley AFB, Ala., last week, inspecting facilities and conferring with Air Force officials at the Mobile, Ala., military installation. The two visitors were Deputy Secretary of Defense Roger M. Kyes and Mr. Lewis S. Thompson, Deputy Assistant Secretary of the Air Force for Mutual Security.

Mr. Kyes gave a new "dynamic" conception of American national defense in an address to an assemblage of 150 Mobile business and professional men following his visit to Brookley and a side trip to the Theodore Ammunition Depot. The Deputy Secretary of Defense was outspoken in his confidence that the United States is ready to meet any foreign threat.

Representative Frank W. Boykin, who introduced Mr. Kyes to the Mobile gathering, made pointed references to the need for Brookley Air Force Base expansion.

Maj. Gen. Fred R. Dent, jr., USAF, Commanding General of the Mobile Air Materiel Area, was Mr. Kyes' host for the Brookley AFB inspection and attended the luncheon, along with several other MOAMA and Brookley officers.

While at Brookley, Assistant Secretary Thompson placed emphasis on the role of Brookley's AFB as a "prime" depot for F-84 jet fighters and SA-16 amphibians.

During his Mobile visit, in addition to his inspection tour of the Brookley AFB, Mr. Thompson held numerous conferences with Maj. Gen. Fred R. Dent, jr., Commander, MOAMA; Brig. Gen. Russell Keillor, Deputy Commander, MOAMA; and Col. Dale L. Walther, Director of Supply Services, MOAMA.

With Mr. Thompson on his Mobile trip was Col. H. A. Lange of AMC Hq.

GEN. WEYLAND GETS DSM

General O. P. Weyland, USAF, formerly Commander FEAF, was awarded an Oak Leaf Cluster to the Distinguished Service Medal for his thirty-three months' service in the Far East. He now will succeed General John K. Cannon, USAF-Ret., as TAC commander, Langley AFB, Va.

The award was presented by General John E. Hull, Commander-in-Chief, Far East and U.N. Commands.

Col. Cofield Joins CrewTAF

Col. Emory W. Cofield, a former member of the Korean Military Armistice Commission at Panmunjom, has assumed duties as adjutant, Headquarters, CrewTAF. He succeeds Lt. Col. George C. Kilmetz, who has been acting adjutant since the retirement of Col. Allan C. Dingwall.

MUSIC WHILE THEY EAT

Airmen eating their first noon meal at Iceland Air Defense Force's Massey Dining Hall find that though Keflavik Airport may be lacking in several of the little niceties of life, it does have one thing most bases don't have. It has live luncheon music.

Playing three days a week, a five-piece combo from the 519th Air Force Band furnishes dining airmen a 30-minute interlude of music.

AF Selects 127 W.O.'s For Perm. CWO Rank

The Air Force this week released the names of 127 warrant officers, selectees and vacatees selected for promotion to permanent chief warrant officer.

Officers named will be promoted to the permanent grade of chief warrant officer, Regular Air Force, immediately upon acceptance of appointment or reappointment as warrant officer junior grade, Regular Air Force, provided they have completed 10 or more years of active Federal commissioned and/or warrant officer service at the time of their appointment and/or reappointment as warrant officer junior grade, Regular Air Force. The selection of officers named in this list will in no way affect their retention on extended active duty. The promotion of warrant officers on active duty will be announced in Air Force Special Orders upon their completion of 10 years of active Federal commissioned and/or warrant officer service.

Heads Iceland Branch

Lt. Col. Raleigh M. Thomason recently arrived at Keflavik Airport, Iceland where he has been assigned as the Chief, Air Defense Branch, Headquarters Iceland Air Defense Force.

Prior to his assignment in Iceland, Colonel Thomason served as Director of Inspector Services with the 25th Air Defense, McChord ADF, Wash.

Medal of Honor

The Medal of Honor will be awarded posthumously to Maj. Charles J. Loring, Jr., USAF, who was killed in Nov., 1952, in Korea while leading a close support mission against enemy gun positions near Sniper Ridge.

The award, to be made 17 April at Bolling AFB, Washington, D. C., will be presented to his widow, Mrs. Elsie Loring. As a leader of a flight of four jets, Major Loring was the target of heavy ground fire. He continued to attack until his aircraft was hit. Then he turned toward the enemy artillery and crashed into the midst of the gun emplacements.

family hospitalization insurance...

And that's exactly what I'm getting by mailing in my regular deposit to the Armed Forces Medical Aid Association. I know that my wife and kids have top-notch hospitalization protection at the lowest possible damage to the pocket. Why? Because AFMAA is our own, non-profit, voluntary association.

Maybe that's why they call me I. M. Ready — because I'm all set in case any of the family goes to the hospital. I know they'll get payments for hospital room, for surgery, for doctors' hospital calls, for emergency accidents, and even for maternity after a ten months' waiting period.

The cost is only $5.50 a month with wife only; $8.00 with kids. Write — right now — to the address below for your free illustrated booklet. I. M. Ready — are you?

ON THE JOB...not "on the way"

THIS JOB CAN'T WAIT — the film must be on its way. The military services can't afford to wait, either, while slow surface transportation delays key personnel, en route. That's why these men are speeded to their work five times faster — on the Scheduled Airlines.

DEPENDABILITY is another reason for traveling the Scheduled Certificated Airlines, the only Airlines that assure you definite, dependable departure and arrival times. Whether you're moving men hundreds of miles or thousands — move them by fast, dependable Scheduled Airlines. And when you add the pay and per diem dollars involved, you'll find you're moving them cheaper, too!

"I am not one of those who face the future with despair. The United States is no frail reed to be bent to the ground by a single blast. But if we doze, if in our complacency we forget the deadly earnestness of the enemy, his ever-increasing technical competence, and his undoubted ability to deliver his new weapons, then, I say, our strength will not avail us."—GEN. HOYT S. VANDENBERG, USAF-RET.

A Great Leader Passes. The Services and the Nation mourn the untimely passing of General Hoyt S. Vandenberg. His entire life was one of unselfish devotion to the service of his country. He entered the Air Corps immediately upon graduation from the U. S. Military Academy. In WWII he served with the Strategic Air Force in Africa and later commanded the 9th Air Force in France. His knowledge of the Communists and their capabilities stemmed from his experience as head of the Air Mission to Russia in 1943-44. His years as the second Chief of Staff of the newly created Air Force were difficult and enacting. Against great obstacles, he fashioned a powerful striking force. His courage and forthrightness in speaking out against the cutbacks decreed by the new Administration won vastly more praise than enmity. The nation's loss of his advice and support and his inability to enjoy the fruits of an active and arduous life are truly tragic.

Inducement to Quit. It is a sad state of affairs when the very rewards Congress and the people have provided for those who serve in the Armed Forces are operating against the best interests of the Services. Yet that is just what is going on.

One of the strong points brought out in the Womble Report was that the rapid and costly turnover in Service personnel is accentuated by the fact that personnel must forego thousands of dollars in GI benefits to remain in service. "There appears to be little justification," the report states, "for denying to the veteran who remains in the Service the advantages accorded the veteran who voluntarily separates himself from the Service."

Early in 1953 the Department of Defense worked on a project requesting Congress to permit Service personnel to avail themselves of some of the GI benefits while remaining in the Service. The Bureau of the Budget first rejected this proposal last July.

Recently, as part of its program to rejuvenate Service career attractiveness, the Department again proposed legislation to extend to active personnel the same housing benefits they would get if they quit the Service. Now, the word is that the Bureau of the Budget has again turned this down.

Such action by the Bureau is short sighted and against the Services' interest. This is particularly true of the housing aspect. Both the old and the new Administrations have operated on a pinch-penny policy in the matter of housing. They have virtually quit building government housing and have concentrated on guaranteeing loans to private constructors. This not only has failed to meet the needs, it has been costly to Service families, for rental costs have substantially exceeded the allowances of junior commissioned and non-commissioned officers. Even the new construction bill just sent to Congress provides for only 20 sets of quarters in the United States and 200 overseas. Many commissioned and non-commissioned officers would buy houses if they could avail themselves of the GI privilege to which they would be entitled if they quit the Service.

There can be no long range savings under the Bureau's policy, for the personnel concerned will get these benefits eventually anyway. Why not now when they need it and it will help the National Defense?

The action of the Bureau of the Budget will prevent the Department from submitting or actively supporting such legislation. We hope, however, that some member of Congress will take it up and push it through to enactment. It would be a real contribution to morale and effective National Defense.

Dependent Care. That members of Congress will override both the Bureau of the Budget and the Department of Defense when it believes the interests of Service personnel are at stake was clearly evidenced this week.

There has been before Congress for some time a bill to permit families of Coast Guard personnel to receive medical and dental care at all Armed Forces hospitals on the same basis as now extended to the other Services. Under present law, Coast Guard personnel are entitled to such treatment but not members of their families, who must depend upon facilities operated by the Public Health Service.

Both the Bureau of the Budget, the Treasury Department, and the Department of Defense recommended against enactment of the measure on the flimsy basis that it should await the submission of over-all legislation arising from the report of the Moulton Commission.

But the Senate Armed Services Committee reported out the bill anyway. The Committee said it disagreed with the recommendations of the Departments and "feels that there is a pressing need to take care of such of those of the 26,000 members of the Coast Guard and their dependents who cannot avail themselves of the Public Health facilities."

Chairman Saltonstall, subcommittee Chairman Hendrickson, and members of the Committee are to be commended for their independent forthright stand.

IN THE JOURNAL

10 Years Ago—The Presidential Unit Citation has been awarded to two submarines, the USS Haddock and the USS Bowfin, for successful attacks upon Japanese shipping. The USS Haddock sank 109,950 tons and damaged an additional 67,130 in these four patrols alone. The USS Bowfin, although hampered by heavy seas and reduced visibility during a night surface engagement with a large enemy convoy, pressed home three vigorous attacks to sink three Japanese ships, completing the destruction of the third while under accurate gunfire opposition.

50 Years Ago—There is nothing to report from the Far East beyond skirmishing along the Yalu. The Russians show no disposition to contest the present possession of Korea and are apparently hoping to tempt the Japanese to cross into Manchuria, where they can have them at a disadvantage.

90 Years Ago—No transfers of seamen from the Army to the Navy have been effected under the recent law of Congress, and 35 vessels of war are now awaiting complements of men. Not only are these 35 vessels awaiting crews, but the terms of many seamen now in service have expired and the men detained to man our ships, though justly entitled to their discharge.

Thoughts on the Uniform

Editor, THE JOURNAL:

So now we are to look like a branch of the Kraut Army! Is something wrong with "Army Blue"? I agree that the Army-wide survey of uniform preference definitely proved that the present shade 33 uniform of Ike jacket and trousers is not liked, but I also feel that it did not prove that the "near Kraut" color was the Army's overwhelming choice.

Why do we have to copy some foreign army? After all, the history of the U. S. Army goes back to the late XVIII Century and until World War I, except for the period in 1812 when gray was used because of the non-availability of blue uniform material, we have worn blues. Our present field uniform is very practical and satisfactory so let's get some contrast between our combat clothing and our dress up uniform.

Perhaps a few others in the Army feel strongly enough on the subject to express themselves. Why not use THE JOURNAL as a sounding board. As a suggestion, perhaps a postal card answering several questions could give a cross section view of the thoughts of those who are going to have to buy and wear someone's off-color brain child.

As a thought, some statements could be: I (do) (don't) like the new Kraut look. I (do) (don't) want a change. I would prefer a (color) uniform.

Good Old "Army Blue"

Editor, THE JOURNAL:

For years, the traditional uniform of the United States Army has been memorialized in the grand old song, "Army Blue."

Despite this sentimental attachment to tradition, however, the U. S. Army, as a result of World War I, decided to ape the British Army uniform with the result that, by a process of trial and error between World Wars I and II, we entered World War II with the "blouse and pinks" type of uniform. Alas, our British cousins had by that time produced a most practical uniform—battle dress. So, not to be outdone, the United States Army charged back into the uniform fray—decided to ape, then changed its mind and "improved" with the resultant Eisenhower jacket which has been overwhelmingly rejected by the Army as a whole as of now.

In the face of this, and ignoring the strains of "Army Blue," we find that some "planner" in the Pentagon has gone to see James Mason playing the part of Rommel in the famous movie, "The Desert Fox." Presto, the U. S. Army now finds it is to be switched from aping our British friends, and is to be dressed in a gray-green uniform, a la Rommel—complete with Kraut hat!

In view of the above, and before we "go ape" again, I would like to respectfully suggest that, in the future, "Pentagon planners" be advised to see such movies as "Fort Apache," "She Wore a Yellow Ribbon," "Rio Grande" and "The Command." I'm sure that by so doing these same "planners" might gradually become acquainted with the traditional uniform of the United States Army.

For further information on this subject, it is also suggested these same "planners" might do well to correspond with Col. James Warner Bellah, USAR.

COLONEL, INFANTRY

Likes OD-33 Uniform

Editor, THE JOURNAL:

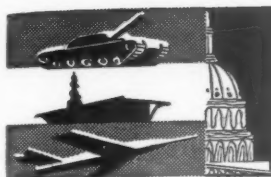

With regard to the current study of the garrison and general wear uniform, you mentioned (on 9 Jan.) that the gray-green uniform worn by the 3d Infantry is the only proposed uniform which has been subjected to field test.

I'd like to call to your attention the OD-33 uniform with service coat (blouse), tested by troops at Ft. Monroe, Va., in 1950, with whom it was most popular. In fact, this uniform went so far as to be adopted as standard for enlisted men (leaving officers presumably in green and pink as the corresponding uniform)—see the April, 1951, issue of SR 600-32-1—but apparently was never procured or issued except in limited quantities for the field test.

I for one think that the 1951 decision to adopt the OD-33 coat was a sound one, and I regret that we didn't "follow through" on it, not only for enlisted men but for officers as well.

defense ON CAPITOL HILL

ENLISTED PERSONNEL will be permitted to withdraw their savings from Soldier Deposit Funds under more liberal terms if Congress enacts a proposal submitted by the Defense Department. The suggested legislation, sent to the Hill by Army Secretary Stevens, would authorize the Service Secretaries to repay such deposits prior to discharge or when an emergency need arises. The Department feels that more personnel will save money through the plan if they know they can get at the funds when they need them. At one time, it appeared that the Budget Bureau might put on pressure to curtail the Soldier Deposit Funds—4% interest is paid—but this threat apparently now has been averted.

DOUBLED AUTHORIZATION for professional personnel of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics to attend accredited graduate schools for research and study is recommended by the Senate Armed Services Committee. Instead of the present $50,000, the Committee urges $100,000 a year for this purpose, to cover salaries or compensation. Employees granted leaves of absence to attend schools pay their own tuition and other academic expenses.

MILITARY PERSONNEL "should know that the American people profoundly respect the uniform and are deeply grateful to those who wear that uniform for the service they render and the sacrifice they make."

House minority whip John R. McCormack, who made the observation this week, said it should be a matter of "deep concern" to the Congress that a feeling exists among Service personnel that the general public does not respect them as much as they should. He said the Congress can continue to pass legislation improving the lot of Service personnel but that it also is important to let them know "that they have our respect."

THE USCOA DEADLINE extension for persons with 18 years or more service was approved this week by the House. The change in the Uniformed Services Contingency Act gives this group one year (instead of four months) in which to make their election.

SPRINGFIELD ARMORY, which celebrated its 160th anniversary last week, received a public expression of gratitude from Senator Leverett Saltonstall (R.-Mass.) for "its splendid tradition of small-arms production for our national security."

"TO RESTORE the necessary balance between east and west coast shipyard activity," Representative John F. Shelley

(D.-Calif.) suggests that "a major portion" of the Navy's 1955 shipbuilding program be assigned to Pacific-coast shipyards. He says the Navy "is paying only lip service to the geographic dispersal principle and the need for maintaining the mobilization potential of all qualified private shipyards." Unless construction of the fourth Forrestal-class carrier is assigned to the Pacific Coast, Representative Shelley said he will be inclined to fight and vote against the ship construction program.

FOR PENSION PURPOSES, acting assistant or contract surgeons who served under contract with the War Department between 21 April 1898 and 2 Feb. 1901, will be credited with active military service by authority of a bill introduced by Representative Russell V. Mack (R.Wash.). The proposal (H.R. 8721) notes that "rights, privileges, and benefits under this Act shall be those provided for those persons who served as Army nurses (female) under contract on or after 21 April 1898 and before 2 February 1901, and subject to the same limitations." The bill provides that no bounty, back pay, pension or allowance shall be held to have been accrued prior to passage of the Act.

THE JOURNAL'S EDITORIAL in the 27 March issue stressing the economies possible by raising the attractiveness of military service and thereby cutting down the turnover in personnel has been inserted in the Congressional Record by Representative Bob Wilson (R.-Calif.), a member of the Armed Services Committee.

AMERICAN MEDICAL ASSN. opposition this week to the President's plan for government reinsurance on certain medical care insurance policies appears to be a tipoff that the A.M.A. intends, if it can, to hold the line against any extension of Federal participation in patient care programs. It is a virtual certainty the A.M.A. will use all its influence to offset the forthcoming Defense Department legislation on family medical care.

A DETAILED REPORT on the proposed Pentagon family medical care legislation was published in this column of last week's JOURNAL. Many civilian doctors conceivably might be pleased with the plan to supplement Service medical facilities with use of private doctors and hospitals, but the A.M.A. as an organization is expected to fight the measure because it would set up the family care program on a more solid legislative foundation than is now the case.

RECOMMEND RIGHT TO ACCEPT GIFTS

The Senate Government Operations Committee acted this week to make it easier for patriotic citizens to give gifts to the Government.

During WWII, thousands of gifts poured in—ranging in value from 15 cents to $320,000—but some were made with the stipulation that they be used for a particular purpose. Since repeal of the Second War Powers Act, the Government has been unable to accept gifts of the latter type.

A bill (S. 3197) reported out by the Committee would again permit acceptance of gifts conditioned upon their use for a specified purpose.

Between March 1942 and June 1946, conditional gifts, in cash, amounted to more than $6 million. During 1946 alone, citizens donated property valued at $250,000, including such items as 2,800,000 packages of cigarettes, 200,000 decks of playing cards, 240 wrist watches, 1 spinet piano and 56,000 phonograph records.

By again permitting conditional gifts, the Committee believes citizens will be able "to give vent to their patriotic feeling to support the defense effort." The report notes, "Although the aggregate amounts of money likely to be received from these sources are relatively small, the good feeling and teamwork which are engendered by permitting the Government to accept these offerings is an important psychological factor in time of national emergency."

United Action in Indo-China Is Proposed—

COMMENT ON FOREIGN AFFAIRS

SECRETARY Dulles' strong suggestion that "united action" might be relied upon to restore peace in Indo-China and halt the advance of Communism into Southeast Asia has taken more substantial form with the American proposal for exactly that, in communications to the nations immediately affected, Great Britain, France, Australia, New Zealand, Thailand and the Philippines. India is conspicuously omitted, which is not surprising in view of the odd form which India's "neutrality" on the world-communism has assumed in Mr. Nehru's speeches, and in view also of India's extremely limited and fleeting support of the United Nations in Korea. Nationalist China is out too; complications are evident. No united action in the form of a warning to Red China is yet recorded; indeed the announcement of our consultations with the Washington representatives of the six nations does not afford any assurance than an agreement on action is in sight, but it seems likely that a partial agreement will be reached in advance of 26 April when the Geneva meeting is scheduled. Earlier discussions, in quest of a firm program of western cooperation at that meeting, had been held with Britain and France; the new consultations aim at a cooperation useful as a reference point at the Geneva meeting but of a decidedly solid character in the Orient, with two oriental states and two southwest Pacific states possibly arrayed with the larger three nations in the project of holding communism out of Southeast Asia. To have talked about "united action" to that end, without undertaking to set it up, would have been unthinkable.

CONGRESSIONAL RECOGNITION of this reality was belated, but early this week members of the House Foreign Affairs committee came to a realization of what the Secretary of State had indicated as long ago as last September when, in speaking of Indo-China, he observed that "the Chinese Communist regime should realize that a second aggression could not occur without grave consequences which might not be confined to Indo-China." At the Monday meeting with the committee he repeated his assurance that he is seeking "united action" to save that harassed land which has now been torn by seven years of war; he specifically said, however, in answer to a question of whether his plan is ruling out action by the United States alone that "it does not rule it out; but the only thing I am talking about now is united action." Whether singly or in company, the United States is here envisaged as being considerably deeper in the affairs of Southeast Asia than was commonly calculated in previous official assurances that materiel and technical training would constitute America's sole aid to the French Union forces. What now is suggested, to be sure, goes beyond earlier thinking, and it is well to have this possibility made plain to Congress and public without delay.

DEFENSE SECRETARY WILSON was subjected to hasty criticism a few weeks ago for his blunt declarations that American desire would be for a more "aggressive" training of native Indo-Chinese combat troops, and that this was in mind in sending Lt. Gen. John W. McDaniel (at the cost of one star per shoulder) over as chief of a Military Advisor Group. In the light of Mr. Dulles' remarks about Red China having come "awfully close" to forbidden aggression, the critics of the Defense chief can do some new thinking. It is quite true that France has the responsibility for the Indo-China training as well as fighting under the existing relations, but if "united action" takes on the presumed connotation, there is virtue in an American military proposal for helping to develop Indo-Chinese native units comparable in efficiency to those which our recent USMAG in South Korea developed for our ROK allies.

FOR THE PRESENT, and for some time ahead obviously, the fighting against the Viet-Minh forces (unmistakably counseled and staffed as well as supplied by Red China, as Mr. Dulles stated) must be determined wholly by the French command of General Navarre. Nothing could have been more heartening than the gallant defense of Dien Bien Phu, so long conducted by the bold and competent Col. Christian de Castries against enormous odds. This is in the finest French tradition, and we can afford ourselves a good deal of satisfaction over the materiel assistance which it was our lot to supply in large and needed measure as a contribution to this admirable feat of French colonial and native troops under spirited French leadership. Elsewhere in Indo-China the overstrained French Union forces must look forward with relief to the weatherman's promise of seasonal rains, even now beginning and destined to mount in vehemence until the long maximum-rainfall period of June-August, thereafter subsiding in a slow let-up which will keep the lowlands in flood until October. One gathers that air elements can operate on an unschedulable basis during the fitful clearing-hours of that long period, but against dispersed ground forces neither bomber nor fighter-bomber can find many remunerative targets to shoot at, and it seems safe to count on a semi-truce of almost six months, broken only by small-scale actions. During that lapse in the fighting much of a political nature can happen, both at Geneva and in the negotiations Mr. Dulles mentions.

RED CHINA'S OFFENSES against an established government in Indo-China, as enumerated by the Secretary of State, include: (1) Red China's general Li Chen-hou taking station in rebel headquarters outside Dien Bien Phu, (2) providing military advisers at army and division levels, (3) installing and operating military telephones, (4) operating anti-aircraft 37mm guns against French planes, (5) furnishing Red army drivers for the supply trucks, and of course, (6) providing most of the rebels' war-materiel. Asked whether the United States has not made itself vulnerable to criticism for aid to the French Union, Mr. Dulles remarked curtly that there is "quite a difference between giving aid to a lawful government and giving aid to a regime which is trying to overturn it."

NATO ADMINISTRATION, singularly free from discord for three eventful years, has been upset by the impulsive behavior of Marshal Juin in volunteering his criticism of the European Defense Community project, reiterating it, and then brusquely refusing to keep an appointment with Premier Laniel, who not unnaturally expects no political expressions from his military subordinate. Discipline was prompt. The French cabinet dismissed the veteran marshal from his two military advisory posts with the government, and the NATO council (which in GROWING IMPATIENCE is developing on Capitol Hill over the delay in getting Defense legislation before the House and Senate Armed Services Committees during the current session. Members believe most if not all of the military bills will receive quick approval if they are received while the Congress is in its present mood to improve career attractions in the Services. They know, however, that the measures may get lost in the election year adjournment rush if their transmission is delayed unduly. Much of the delay is attributed to the Bureau of the Budget but Members also place some blame on Defense officials.

A PAY RAISE for midshipmen at the U.S. Naval Academy was urged again this week by VAdm. C. Turner Joy, USN, Superintendent. The proposal won President Eisenhower's support last year. It's on the Defense Dept. legislative program, with cadets at the Military and Coast Guard Academies also included. But for some strange reason, the bill still hasn't been sent to Capitol Hill.

AN ARMY RESEARCH TEAM, headed by Col. Carl W. Tempel, has been ordered on a special 60-day mission to Formosa. The purpose: to advise on combatting tuberculosis.

A CHAPLAIN "OCS" will be conducted at Ft. Slocum this Summer. Seminararians will come to the Chaplains' School for an 8 weeks' course as second lts. Then, they will return to their studies, and will be commissioned as first lieutenants upon graduation.

AT LEAST A THIRD of the Assistant Secretaries of Defense are involved in a current flap as to whether or not the Government should continue to charge the full rental allowance for sub-standard Government-owned family housing. The Assistant Secretary for Manpower and Personnel is in favor of reduced rentals. The Comptroller is against it, contending that it will require supplemental appropriations. Where the Assistant Secretaries for Properties and Installation and Legislation and Public Affairs stand—not to mention the General Counsel—is not known.

HIGH DIVORCE RATES among Service personnel continue to worry Defense officials. They say the reason is frequent overseas service and lack of housing. The Defense Dept. is putting pressure on the Services to see if more can't be done to lick the problem of family separations.

IN MATTERS SUCH AS THESE, the Services are counting on an enlightened approach from Deputy Defense Secretary-Designate (now Navy Secretary) Anderson. With Army Sec'y Stevens and AF Sec'y Talbott, he has championed proposals to ease the hardships of military service.

USNA NON-SWIMMERS! On entering the USNA, 46% of the Class of '56 couldn't swim 100 yards; 12% couldn't swim at all. . . . The USNA resignation rate which hit a high of 18.2% for '49 dropped to 7.4% for '53, but officials think that rate needs to be reduced even further. . . . USNA officials continue to press for construction of a modern airfield at Annapolis; they point out that midshipmen aviation indoctrination will be scuttled by 1959 because of attrition of the 49 N39 seaplanes now in the Navy, of which 32 are assigned to the Academy.

"ENCOURAGING AND REASSURING" is the comment in the new issue of Armor magazine, on plans for the new armored division to be activated at Ft. Hood, Tex., on 15 June. Meantime, the Army has released an S.O. assigning Maj. Gen. Thomas J. H. Trapnell from Saigon, Indo-China, to Ft. Hood. The JOURNAL has stated that he will command the new division, to be called the 4th Armored.

ARTILLERY COMMANDER for the new armored division will be Brig. Gen. John P. Daley, formerly CofS on the U.S. Military Armistice Commission in the Far East. In Korea, he served for a time as artillery commander of the 2d Infantry Division.

SECDEF WILSON had a moment's difficulty pinning the DSM on Maj. Gen. Guy V. Henry at a Pentagon ceremony this week. The Secretary calmly remarked: "I was more embarrassed the time I had to put a sash around the winner of a bathing beauty contest." General Henry, one-time Chief of Cavalry, culminating a distinguished record of service dating back to the Spanish-American War, was 79 in Jan.

SERVICE VETERINARIANS would be given equal constructive service credit (3 years) with medical and dental officers if Congress goes along with a recommendation of the Senate Armed Services Committee. The legislation won the Committee's O.K. notwithstanding Defense Dept. opposition. It would mean that veterinarians would come into service as first lieutenants.

AIRBORNE TRAINING is winning high popularity in the Army. The volunteer rate is so high that basic airborne training, previously given only at the Infantry Center, Ft. Benning, Ga., now is being conducted also at Ft. Campbell, Ky., and Ft. Bragg, N. C.

COLORADO SPRINGS, COLO., AREA is seen as a top prospect for location of the Air Force Academy. The Site Selection Commission has only just begun its work, but on the basis of the factors they will be considering (details on page 950), the Colorado locale must be considered a strong contender. The paragraph on "natural beauty" is particularly significant.

THREE ATOMIC DESIGNATIONS are contained in a newly released Army list of officer and W.O. MOS classifications. The jobs are Atomic Weapons Nuclear Officer, Atomic Weapons Assembly Officer, and Atomic Weapons Electronics Officer. In each Specialty, the qualifications include the statement that the officer "must be familiar with all types of atomic weapons." There are 16 MOS billets for Guided Missile duties.

AN ATOMIC BONER was pulled by the Navy in releasing in an unclassified document instructions on "prevention of clandestine introduction of nuclear weapons." The SecNav Instruction (No. 3400.1) presents no secret information on the subject. This is conceded in the concluding paragraph which states that "though unclassified this document will not be released outside the Naval Establishment without authority of the Chief of Naval Operations." Pentagon reporters saw the Instruction, noted that it was "unclassified" and forthwith published its contents—without following the instruction of obtaining authority from the CNO.

Long Distance calls now cost you less

Recent reduction in federal excise tax means a substantial saving for you on every Long Distance call

The reduction in the excise tax from 25% to 10%, voted by Congress, is good news for Long Distance users.

It means that every Long Distance call—to anywhere in the country—now costs you less than it did before April 1.

Basic rates remain the same.
What you save is the difference between the old and the new tax.
Every bit of the tax reduction goes to our customers. The telephone company does not retain any part of it.

Now it costs you even less to keep in touch by telephone.

Don't Wonder • Don't Worry

Call today and be sure

LONG DISTANCE RATES ARE LOW

Some typical examples:

Philadelphia to New York . . . . . 40¢
Indianapolis to Cincinnati . . . . . 40¢
Cleveland to Chicago . . . . . 75¢
Dallas to Atlanta . . . . . $1.20
San Francisco to Washington . . . $2.00

These are the Station-to-Station rates for the first three minutes, after 6 o'clock every night and all day Sunday. They do not include the new, lower federal excise tax of 10%.

NORTH AMERICAN HAS BUILT MORE AIRPLANES THAN ANY OTHER COMPANY IN THE WORLD

MACH

BUSTER!

First of the true tri-sonic fighters, the new F-100 Super Sabre exceeds Mach 1 in normal, level flight... flying faster than the speed of sound.

MACH (pronounced "mock") is a term you'll be seeing more and more since it is the only really accurate way of evaluating jet plane speeds. The need for this special standard of measurement is due to the fact that the speed of sound varies with changes in temperature and altitude. At sea level, for instance, sound travels at speeds ranging from 760.9 MPH at an air temperature of 60° to 790.7 MPH at 100°. However, using the Mach numbers, a jet traveling at Mach 1 is flying at the speed of sound, no matter at what altitude or temperature. Far advanced beyond any fighter now in production, the F-100 Super Sabre was designed and built by North American to meet our nation's need.

Engineers of vision... men who appreciate a challenge, are wanted at North American. If you are an engineer looking to the future, write North American, Los Angeles 45, California.

NOT "NEW LOOK"

At the Army uniform briefing for the Senate Armed Services Committee, SecDef Wilson said this week that the "Army Green" was not part of the "New Look." Army officials expressed the hope during the session that in the years to come "Army Green" would become as popular a term as "Navy Blue."

Army Green Uniform Wear Starts Oct. 55

cost the country or the Army man any additional money.

The showing before the Senate Committee was arranged so members of the Committee could be advised of the Army's plans to go ahead with procurement of the uniform. A similar showing will be presented to the House Armed Services Committee.

Enlisted men of each of the four Services were paraded before the Committee in their "best" off-duty uniform. Committee members were asked to compare the present Army uniform with those provided for the Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps.

Colonel Wise explained that the present OD shade had not been selected to enhance the appearance of the soldier but instead was a dual-purpose uniform designed for functional use in the field and in combat. He said it has failed in both instances, and has presented a "psychological barrier" insofar as off-duty wear is concerned.

During field tests of the new "Army Green" uniform, it was found that the testing troops (members of the 3d Infantry) elected to wear the new military apparel even during off-duty hours when they could have donned civilian clothing had they so desired.

Except for ornamentation, the "Army Green" uniform will be exactly the same for officer and enlisted personnel. It consists of trousers, single-breasted coat-type jacket without belt, garrison cap, black shoes and tie and a light-tan broadcloth shirt. Insignia and chevrons are gold, and the officer's uniform will include a gold stripe around the sleeve of the coat and the band of the cap.

The decision to use black shoes with the uniform, Colonel Wise said, is expected to result in a saving. It will make the Army, Navy and Air Force 100 per cent identical in this respect. Marine Corps shoes are of a Cordovan shade.

Members of the Senate Committee expressed no opposition to the plan and seemingly were in a mood to accept it without further discussion.

The present Army drill and training uniform, which also is used in combat, will be retained for that purpose, and the new Army dress blue uniform will be continued as an optional item of wear, Colonel Wise said.

Survivor Benefits

out that under present law the widow of a Reserve officer could receive as much as $525 a month under the Federal Employee Compensation Act, while the widow of a Regular officer of identical rank and service might receive only $75 a month.

The Defense Department inquiry also criticized present death gratuity benefit and pointed to the wide spread between the amount received by the widow of a private and that received by the widow of a general officer.

The complex problem has been under study by Defense authorities for more than a year, but at a relaxed pace pending completing of the Kaplan Commission inquiry.

Now that this work has been completed, it can be expected that the Defense Department will move as quickly as possible to send legislation to Capitol Hill.

In view of the fact that any changes in the present set-up for Survivor Benefits is certain to result in extended hearings, the likelihood of final Congressional action this year must be considered remote.

However, there is a possibility that hearings at least can be started, particularly in view of the fact that the Womble Report made many of the present situation with its many inequities.

Reject Home Loan Plan

active duty that the Budget Bureau would agree to the plan to step-up the date of fulfilling the obligation by permitting Home Loan benefits for those on active duty.

Defense officials argued also that such action would help alleviate the critical housing shortage for Servicemen and their families.

The Home Loan inequity is not the only one which has been cited by such manpower experts as Dr. Hannah as a deterrent to career service. He has noted also that men who remain on active duty are denied other benefits, including those pertaining to employment, education and mustering-out pay.

It was felt at the Pentagon, however, that the most urgent need was for the extension of Home Loan benefits to those in active service, notably the Career personnel of the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps, and Coast Guard.

That is why the Budget Bureau's decision is recognized as a formidable problem in the effort to raise reenlistment rates in all the Services.

Mare Island Base

Units; assigned manufacture, research development and test work, and support of the Shipyard Commander in his capacity as Industrial Manager of the Twelfth Naval District.

The shipyard last year launched two new minesweepers, Cormorant and Bluebird, commissioned six converted submarines, and at present is carrying out design work on the Grayback, to be laid down in the summer. During World War II the shipyard constructed 377 craft, ranging from landing craft to submarine tenders. Hundreds of landing craft and 31 destroyer escorts were "farmed-out" to contractors in Denver, Colorado, prefabricated there, hauled across the Rockies to Mare Island for launching at the rate of a landing craft daily, a destroyer escort every ten days.

The Naval Hospital with a bed capacity of 625 is staffed by a total of some 550 officers, enlisted men and women, and civilians. General clinical and hospitalization services are provided for fleet units of the operating forces and navy shore activities, as well as joint hospitalization services for the Army and Air Force. Military dependents and other authorized supernumeraries in the vicinity of the shipyard are also cared for. The hospital's most outstanding activity, during World War II, was the development of artificial limbs and the rehabilitation of combat victims so fitted.

The Naval Ammunition Depot and its related activity, the Naval Magazine at Port Chicago, between them employ more than 2,000 persons. At the Ammunition Depot, most kinds of ammunition including mines, can be loaded, assembled, overhauled or otherwise prepared for issue. Basic ammunition stocks are maintained by the Magazine at Port Chicago, where ammunition is received from and issued to the operating fleet. The Port Chicago activity also serves as overseas transshipment point for Armed Forces ammunition, performs quality evaluation work for the Bureau of Ordnance, and administers the Western Area Work Measurement Office. Close to a million tons of ammunition was handled by these two activities in a recent twelve-month period.

Mare Island's Marine Barracks provides local security guards for the Mare Island-Vallejo Area Naval Base components and administrative support for Marine Combat casualties in the Mare Island Hospital. A separate Marine Barracks provides similar security at the Port Chicago Naval Magazine.

The history of naval activity at Mare Island is almost as old as that of the state of California; when the state was admitted to the Union on September 9, 1850, the island was specifically reserved for government use. A naval inspection board, headed by Commodore John Drake Sloat, surveyed the San Francisco Bay area in 1852, and recommended Mare Island as the best available site for a naval base. The island was purchased on January 4, 1853, for $83,491. Its first use by the Navy was as a base for a floating drydock, which was prefabricated in New York City, then knocked down and shipped around Cape Horn to Mare Island, where it was first operated as a commercial venture under navy contract. As the entire Pacific Squadron of the 1850's consisted of only a dozen ships, the docking schedule was devoted in the main to clippers, whalers, Sacramento River sidewheelers, and the "steam propellers" which ran between San Francisco and Nicaragua.

Although the Mare Island Navy Yard, in the past, built everything from tugboats to the battleship California, the Shipyard is especially known for work on submarines—new construction, repairs, and conversions. It is highly regarded as a repair yard by the fleet, not only because of the excellent work turned out, but also because Mare Island's motto "Our Sole Mission is to Serve the Fleet" is construed to apply to even the lowest rated men in the fleet. Services available to crews of ships repairing at Mare Island include Homoja housing for officers and men, dependent medical care, commissary, several recreation centers, an elementary school on the yard and transportation to city high schools.

Secretary Wilson Guest Speaker—

One of the outstanding events on the Air Force Officers' Wives Club calendar was held Thursday 8 April at the Army Navy Country Club in Virginia. Mr. Charles E. Wilson, Secretary of Defense, was the honored guest speaker.

The decorative theme was unification and in the main dining room scenes were grouped on the head table representing the three services. The decorating committee, headed by Mrs. W. T. Daly had made miniature soldiers, jeeps, tanks for the Army, sailors, ships, depicting the Navy, and Airmen and airplanes representing the Air Force. The table cloths covering the head table were of the Air Force colors, blue and silver. Even the place cards carried out the unification theme. The back drop was arrayed with large world maps, pin pointed by various objects representative of each service, signifying locations of our military installations.

An azure sky with silvery clouds was the panoramic scene for a large B-36 airplane model adorning the stage where Mr. Wilson was introduced by Mrs. Charles B. Cabell, the program chairman for the day.

In addition to the American flag and the three service flags, Mr. Wilson's personal flag as Secretary of Defense was also displayed.

Seated at the head table with Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Wilson were Mrs. Nathan F. Twining, honorary president of the club, Mrs. Manuel J. Asensio, president, Mrs. Harold E. Talbott, Mrs. Roger Lewis, Mrs. Thomas D. White.

Mrs. S. H. Slaughter, Mrs. C. Dixon, Mrs. Charles Johnson, Mrs. David Bule, and Mrs. Edward Michaelson, wives of instructors at the Air-Ground School, modeled the clothing.

At the conclusion of the Fashion Show guests and members were ushered into the officers' clubroom for the tea, at which Mrs. George Elvey, Mrs. William Ryan and Mrs. David Gallaway were hostesses.

The tea table held a centerpiece of yellow roses, yellow snapdragons and heather, flanked by silver candelabra with ivory tapers. Mrs. William M. Gross and Mrs. Lamar Welch poured.

Continental Div. Adjutant

KELLY AFB, TEX. Lt. Col. William A. Murray ended his military career 31 March where he entered the service more than 30 years ago. He had been assigned to the Continental Division Headquarters of MATS as Division adjutant for the past two years.

In December 1923, at the age of 17, Colonel Murray enlisted in the Air Corps in Georgia and was sent to Kelly to become a member of the 3d Attack Group for his first military assignment.

Colonel Murray entered his first service school in June 1925 at Chanute Field, Ill., to attend the Airplane and Engine Mechanic's course. He returned to the same school in 1923 to take advanced instruction in this same course.

As a full-fledged mechanic, Colonel Murray worked on the DeHavilland two-place biplane and numerous other aircraft, which included: The Douglas O-2, Curtiss A-3 and A-12, Thomas-Morse O-19, Northrup A-17 and Douglas B-18.

Ft. Crockett, Galveston, Texas, became Colonel Murray's new duty station in 1926. During his service at Ft. Crockett he joined the base football team. Line coach for the team at that time was today's Air Force Chief of Staff, Gen. Nathan F. Twining.

In April 1942, Colonel Murray ended his career as an enlisted man when he received a commission as a first lieutenant. His first major assignment after becoming an officer was with the War Department Inspector General, Washington, D. C., in 1943.

The colonel has served overseas in the Philippines and Dhahran, Saudi Arabia.

Besides holding the responsible position of Division adjutant since his assignment to this headquarters, Colonel Murray has also held the added duty of commander for the Headquarters Squadron Section for one year. During his present assignment he supervised the entire command's change from the Dewey Decimal filing system to the new Subjective Case filing system.

Colonel Murray will spend his retirement in North Carolina.

Col. Morris Retires

INDIANTOWN GAP, PA. The retirement of Col. David A. Morris was marked here by the presentation of a citation for meritorious service from the CG of the Second Army.

of the Marine Corps, Maj. Gen. John H. Russell and Mrs. Russell formerly of Coronado. On 27 March Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Gilder D. Jackson, Jr., entertained with a cocktail party in their Transbay home choosing the Astors as their honor guests.

RAdm. W. D. Leggett, Jr., USN, Chief of the Bureau of Ships, arrived from Washington, D. C. on 29 March and during his visit official business was interspersed with social activities. Navy Capt. and Mrs. R. J. Moore planned a dinner to honor the officer and his aide, Capt. J. J. Fee USN, and sharing the courtesy were Capt. and Mrs. A. H. Hurst at whose home Admiral Leggett was a house guest, Capt. and Mrs. Harold Webb and Capt. and Mrs. Marvin J. West. RAdm. and Mrs. J. P. Pearson invited friends to toast the Washingtonians at cocktails and Capt. and Mrs. Charles D. Wheelock, of La Jolla, and Capt. and Mrs. H. E. Bernstein were both hosts at dinner in compliment to Admiral Leggett.

El Rancho de Manana in beautiful Lyons Valley was the rendezvous for Naval Academy graduates, Class of '17, and their wives on 27 March. Capt. John J. Bartholdi, USN, ret., and Mrs. Bartholdi hosted the reunion and the day proved both a delightful social occasion as well as an educational experience for the guests who had never before visited a purebred Hereford breeding ranch. Midday luncheon, farm style, was enthusiastically devoured with bales of hay serving as seats for the guests gathered around the barbecue pit. They were: RAdms. and Mesdames Arthur Moen of Long Beach, B. O. Wells of Glendale, C. W. Weitzel of Long Beach, F. W.

Benson and Elliott M. Senn; Capt. and Mesdames A. P. Schneider of Palos Verdes, Lawrence Wainwright of Encinitas, E. B. Rogers, Com. and Mrs. Benjamin H. Wyatt, Col. and Mrs. Floyd D. Bennett, Cdr. and Mesdames P. W. Warren of Los Angeles, R. W. Gruebeck, Lt. and Mrs. C. N. Perkins of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Glen E. Routier of Temple City and Mrs. J. H. Conyne.

Long Beach AF Officers Wives' Club
■ LONG BEACH, CALIF. The Long Beach Air Force Officers Wives Club, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Mark Stevens, assisted by Mrs. Nancy Boyer staged a gala fashion show at the Officers' Club, 20 March. Cocktails preceded the event followed by dancing in the ballroom.

Mrs. Edna McMasters of Fullerton was commentator. In charge of decorations for the evening were Mrs. John Burke and Mrs. Eugene Zolomy. In charge of donations was Mrs. Eugene Fair.

Hostesses for the annual event were Mesdames Fred Bongard, Edwin Elliott, Harold Hill, Robert Hutto, William Lyon, Robert Montiverdi, Kerney Sigler and Ted Timbers.

Club members who modeled for the evening were Mesdames Jackie Arford, Nancy Boyer, Mary Clark, Lillian Poffenroth, Mark Stevens, Cale Herry, Robert Hopkins, Harvey Prosser and James McNeill.

All proceeds from the show were donated to the Air Base Nursery.

Trophies For Meade Bowlers
■ FT. MEADE, MD. One of the recent social highlights was a bowling banquet where trophies were presented to members of the Officers' Bowling League who were high scorers in the bowling championship.

Trophies were awarded by Maj. Henry Wilson, president of the League and master of ceremonies for the banquet, to winners in the men's and women's teams. They were:

Three-game series, with handicap (Men):

Maj. F. A. Villacusa, Maj. N. H. Odom and Mrs. Kenneth Orsi.

High game singles, with handicap (Men):

Maj. Villacusa, Capt. C. A. Hawkins, and Maj. Edward Bird.

Three-game series (Women): Mrs. E. R. Gorman, Mrs. Bernita Oerter, and Mrs. H. L. Thompson.

High game singles (Women): Mrs. Oerter, Mrs. Byron Bonham and Lt. L. T. LeRoux, an Army Nurse.

As captain of the high scoring team, Maj. Byron Bonham received a trophy.

Other officers of the Bowling League are Mrs. E. R. Gorman, vice president; Maj. Byron Bonham, secretary, and Mrs. William Tierney, treasurer. Charged with arranging for the affair and decorations were Mrs. Bonham and Mrs. C. A. Hawkins.

Class '54 Have Good Show

■ WEST POINT. The 100th Night Show put on by the Class of 1954 was a slick, smooth production. From start to finish the timing and quality of performance were of the best. The songs and singers were top-flight and even the bits about cadet life moved along at a clip. Lt. Col. C. E. Covell was faculty advisor for this excellent entertainment. "Beno" could easily take its place along side of "Brother Rat" in depicting cadet life in a way that was not only bearable but interesting to the audience.

Lt. Col. and Mrs. H. C. Brown asked thirty of their friends for dinner in their quarters before the Army Daughters' Fashion Show last Saturday night.

The wives of the Dept. of Mechanics met for lunch in the two Green Rooms on 25 March. Easter bunnies and yellow chickens were much in evidence on the beautifully appointed "U" shaped table. For a center piece the hostesses, Mrs. E. M. Lewiecki, Mrs. T. D. Blazina and Mrs. R. T. Batson had arranged a large Easter basket filled with fluffs of tulle in every pastel shade and the handle of the basket was wrapped in tulle with a bouquet of sweet peas tied on the side. Easter eggs were tucked here and there among the tulle and an Easter bunny guarded the whole confection. Down each side of the table were running greens interspersed with small nests of eggs, bunnies and other Easter paraphernalia. The place cards were miniature corsets.

On Thursday afternoon the Electricity Department wives gathered for a dessert tea in the Club's Gray Room. Mrs. R. D. Terry and Mrs. R. W. Ballard had arranged the tea table with a dark green cloth on which were placed pink candles in silver candelabra and an antique copper planter filled with greens.

At the meeting of the House and Garden Group of the West Point Woman's Club, on Thursday at 1:45 in the Club Lounge, Mr. T. A. Glown, discussed plants and flowers most suitable for growing in the soil found at West Point. Following his talk, Mr. Schneider of Peekskill, N. Y. (teacher of flower arranging) gave an illustrated lecture on flower arrangements. Tea was served after the program. Mrs. G. S. Pappas and Mrs. E. M. Lewiecki are in charge of this group.

Brig. Gen. Parmelee Retires

■ EL TOR, SANTA ANA, CALIF. Promoted to the rank of Brigadier General, Col. Perry O. Parmelee has terminated a near 26 year career with the Marine Corps.

The retiring general was honored in ceremonies at the headquarters of Maj. Gen. Christian F. Schilt, CG of Aircraft, Fleet Marine Force, Pacific.

A graduate of the United States Naval Academy, General Parmelee was commissioned a Marine second lieutenant on 7 June 1928. He completed flight training at Pensacola, Fla., in 1930, where his step-son, 2d Lt. Walter P. Hutchins is now undergoing flight training for the Marine Corps.

With his retirement, General Parmelee vacates the position of Chief of Staff of Operations for Aircraft, Fleet Marine Force, Pacific. The general said he and his family would live in California.

Welcome Mrs. Conk

■ ST. LOUIS. Mrs. Robert H. Conk was welcomed by the Missouri Military District officers' wives at their March luncheon meeting. Colonel and Mrs. Conk have recently arrived in St. Louis after three and a half years in Germany, where he was Division Artillery Executive, Fourth Infantry Division. He is now executive officer of the Missouri Military District.

In response to a memorandum received at Missouri Military District Headquarters, Mrs. Wm. D. Paschall, wife of the chief of the district, presented the case of the needy Korean children and suggested that each member of the group who wished might bring one or more clean, used garments and one dime for postage to the next meeting. These will be sent to the welfare officer at the Korean Base Command.

After luncheon Mrs. W. H. Wandell, chairman of the group, introduced Capt. Ruth H. Null, ANC, who is assigned to the U. S. Army Dispensary in St. Louis. Capt. Null showed two informative films which currently are being distributed by the American Cancer Society. This was followed by the customary games of bridge and canasta. Mrs. Wm. R. Swearingen, Mrs. Harry Israel, and Mrs. Walter Wheeler were hostesses, arranging for the luncheon and the attractive bouquets of sweet peas which decorated the tables.

Others present were Mesdames Glen R. Townsend and Francis H. Boucher, honorary members, and Mesdames Paul W. Cole, Hugh B. Hoeffler, Edward H. Stevens, Warren L. Ray, Carthel N. Morgan, Samuel W. Boyl, Wilmer Bjurgstad, Manley J. Cummings, Ernest G. Ford, Mrs. Frank N. Garner, Edgar McGowan, Richard G. Miller, Karl F. Bennett, and John J. Morrissey.

Obituaries

Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, USAF, Ret.

Moments after a flight of Strategic Air Command B-47 Stratojets roared over the gravesite in final salute, General Hoyt S. Vandenberg, USAF, Ret., was buried on 5 April at Arlington National Cemetery.

General Vandenberg, 55, died of cancer on 2 April at Walter Reed Army Hospital. At his bedside were his wife, the former Gladys Rose, a daughter, Gloria Rose Miller, who is married to Col. Robert R. Miller, USAF, Ent AFB, Colo., and his son, 1st Lt. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, jr., who was married in 1952 to the former Sue Rosannah Johnson, daughter of Lt. Gen. Leon Johnson, USAF, Chief of the Continental Air Command.

General Vandenberg left three grandchildren, Susan Hoyt Miller and Lisa Ransome Miller and Hoyt S. Vandenberg, 3d.

Interment followed services at the Washington Cathedral, attended by President Eisenhower, who had said of General Vandenberg that the nation "will hold him in grateful remembrance."

Top Air Force commanders from around the world flew to Washington to pay their respects to the man who had served as Air Force Chief of Staff from 30 April 1948 until 30 June 1953.

Notified of General Vandenberg's death, President Eisenhower issued a statement in which he said:

"Gallant commander, a decade ago, of our tactical air force in northwest Europe; unswerving advocate of the precepts and cause of the United States Air Force; a forceful fighter for a strong national defense—General Vandenberg was a courageous and tireless leader. He has left a lasting imprint on the Service he loved so well and on the nation he served with all his strength and skill. News of his untimely death brings sorrow to his host of civilian and military friends, among whom I was privileged to be numbered."

From his associates in the Air Force, and from top leaders of Government came similar tributes to the Air Force's second Chief of Staff.

At Arlington, the funeral procession was comprised of 2,000 troops representing all the Uniformed Services. The guard of honor company was the same company in which General Vandenberg had served at West Point, from which he was graduated 12 June 1923.

George E. Abbott

George E. Abbott, President of George E. Abbott & Co., Manufacturer's Distributors of 144 Flatbush Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., and Vice-President of Hal B. Grubbs & Co., Long Beach, Calif., died 31 March of a heart attack at the age of 56.

Raised on a New England farm, Mr. Abbott pioneered in wireless telegraphy with Brig. Gen. David Sarnoff, USAR. He became an Ensign in the U. S. Navy during the first World War, and was shortly thereafter made one of the youngest acting Captains on a large ocean-going vessel.

Mr. Abbott was instrumental in bringing about governmental authority for ships to purchase merchandise tax-free in bond, in the United States. Previously ships bought merchandise of foreign manufacture in foreign ports to escape taxes.

Mr. Abbott left the sea to enter the commercial world and after five years became Vice-President of the Marine Tobacco Company. From 1932 to 1937 he was associated with the American Tobacco Company as Sales Manager in charge of all government and institutional sales. He left the American Tobacco Company in 1937 to establish the George E. Abbott & Co. which sells exclusively to the Armed Services.

Soon after his company was formed, Mr. Abbott, together with Geo. A. Hormel & Co., conducted extensive tests which convinced Navy Commissary Officers that canned hams, when properly processed, were preferable to the regular standard smoked ham in quality, economy, and convenience.

The Navy accordingly adopted specifications on canned hams for general mess use. The Army and other Federal Agencies followed.

Mr. Abbott was a member of the Army and Navy Club, Washington, D. C.

He is survived by two sons, George E., jr., and Robert O.; his sister, Thelma Abbott, and three brothers, Tewfik, Abraham and Fouzy.

Interment was at the family plot in North Adams, Mass.

Mrs. Corine M. Paine

Mrs. Corine M. Paine, wife of Rear Admiral Roger Warde Paine, USN, Ret., died 7 April at the Bethesda Naval Hospital, after an extended illness.

A native of Luling, Texas, Mrs. Paine and her husband had been residing at 221 Wardour Drive, Annapolis, Md., since his retirement from active service in 1949.

Mrs. Paine was well known in Washington, San Francisco, Boston and San Diego, where her husband served various tours of duty during his Navy career. She will also be remembered in Austin, Texas, where she was raised and where she attended the University of Texas. Mrs. Paine was a graduate of the Boston Conservatory of Music.

Mrs. Paine is survived by her husband and three children, Commander Roger Warde Paine, jr., of Arlington, Virginia; Mrs. William G. Whyte, of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. George J. Davis, of Newport, Rhode Island. She is also survived by a brother, Mr. Robert Malone, of Dennison, Texas, and a sister, Mrs. J. Lawson Biggers, of Commerce, Texas.

Funeral services were held at 2:00 P.M. on Friday, 9 April, at St. Andrew's Chapel at the United States Naval Academy in Annapolis, followed by interment in the Naval Academy Cemetery.

63 Million Safe Miles Recorded at Ft. Benning

Vehicles of the Ft. Benning, Ga., Transportation Section have rolled up 63,000,000 miles in the past three years without a single fatal accident.

Ft. Benning, comparable to a city of 50,000 population, has 524 miles of road over which 1,600 military vehicles and 15,915 private vehicles travel. Operating Army vehicles 63,000,000 fatality-free miles in such traffic is directly attributed to the post-wide accident prevention program carried on by the Transportation Section, headed by Col. Sidney P. Kretlow.

The accident prevention program includes initial driver training and testing, remedial training and continuous day-by-day supervision, enforcement of safe driving practice, traffic engineering, inspection and maintenance of vehicles, development and maintenance of an interest in safe driving and incentives for safe driving.

Oldest SC Non-Com At New MARS Station

The oldest enlisted man in the Army Signal Corps, M/Sgt. Edward F. Martin, is assigned to the newly-opened MARS station at Ft. Monmouth, N. J.

Sergeant Martin was attached to General of the Armies John J. Pershing's Headquarters in Chaumont, France, during WW I, and received the telegraphic message from Field Marshal Foch which announced the Armistice in 1918.

Station K2USA, Military Affiliate Radio System, complete with six studios and transmitter, was formally opened this month at Ft. Monmouth. Said to be the finest such station in operation in this country, K2USAA's physical layout was designed by its commanding officer, Capt. Frank A. Wesley.

Army Art Contest Will End In September

The second All-Army Art Contest and Exhibition, currently underway, will conclude in September.

A series of preliminary exhibitions and eliminations will be held beginning 1 Oct. and ending 1 Feb., when the best 25 entries will be forwarded for final selection to The Adjutant General in Washington, D. C.

Five prizes, all government bonds, will be given in each of four categories with a popular prize for the outstanding entry.

The four categories include oil paintings, water colors, drawings or cartoons, and prints. All entries must be framed or mounted for display.

All entries must be originals, prepared during the contest period, and not connected with official duty. A panel of three recognized artists in the fields of painting, drawing and prints will make the awards.

Scholarships Are Offered To Regular Officers' Sons

Valley Forge Military Academy will offer eight three-year scholarships annually to sons of Regular officers in the Armed Services.

As outlined in Army Circular 30, the scholarships will be divided into two categories: boys between 14 and 16 preparing to enter the 10th grade, and young men preparing to enter the 12th grade.

Because of the limited number of scholarships available each year, an excellent academic standing will be one of the chief requisites as well as an interest in military life.

Applications should be made by 15 June of each year to the Registrar, Valley Forge Military Academy, Wayne, Pa.

T-33 Trainers Converted Into Photo-Recon Planes

Lockheed Aircraft Corporation is converting the T-33 jet trainer into a one-seat photo reconnaissance plane for Mutual Defense Assistance Pact countries.

A battery of four mapping and charting cameras is mounted in the space formerly containing machine guns and ammunition holders. The cameras afford "four-way" coverage, photographing straight down, directly forward, and obliquely right or left.

A wire recorder has been installed to enable the pilot to describe his target, position, altitude and distinguishing terrain features as he sees them.

"The T-33's speed, maneuverability and excellent in-flight stability made it possible to convert the airplane for specialized photo-reconnaissance duty with a minimum of change," a Lockheed spokesman declared.

Operational range of the new RT-33 will be approximately 20 per cent greater than the standard T-33. Control panels in the forward cockpit have been redesigned to accommodate airplane's additional electrical equipment.

Pentagon Plans New Housing Program

provides also for construction of facilities needed for the 137-wing Air Force, the Defense Department said.

The new construction projects include work at 195 different installations.

The new projects are divided among the three military departments as follows:

	(Thousands of Dollars)		Aircraft Warning and Control and Classified Projects	Total
	Inside Continental United States	Outside Continental United States
Army	$149,809	$19,264	$87,700	$256,773
Alaska
Communications System	0	463	0	463
Navy	113,085	30,796	63,358	207,239
Air Force	312,348	9,829	110,325	432,502
	$575,242	$60,352	$261,383	$896,977

In addition to the new authorization requested, there is included in the authorization bill, the reprogramming of previously authorized Air Force construction aggregating $309,698,000, which amount is not included in the $896,976,600 total for which new authorization was requested.

INDUSTRY * FINANCE

Industrial Leader Tells Urgent Need For Top Flight Men to Man Modern AF

The finest military equipment being produced today will fail in its mission to protect our freedom unless we have skilled personnel of high morale to go along with it, Mr. J. E. Schaefer, Boeing Airplane Company vice president and Wichita Division general manager, declared in a recent address before the Kansas City Chamber of Commerce.

Speaking on "our Air Force—its progress and its need for continued progress," Mr. Schaefer called for a better understanding of the needs of military men and their families.

Actual size of stockpiles of nuclear devices possessed by this country is of limited interest only to the Russian leaders, he said. "They are much more interested in our ability to deliver these devices to strategic targets throughout the world. This is the mission of the Air Force's Strategic Air Command, using such carriers as the Boeing B-47 Stratojet bomber."

Mr. Schaefer contended that with the advent of supersonics and the rapid advance in design on high performance airplanes we should recognize the technical ability and skill of the men who fly these airplanes and the expert requirements for ground crews to maintain them and keep them flying. He declared that the cost of training a B-47 pilot—estimated at about $60,000—is wasted if the pilot resigns because his family is discontented with living conditions or the curtailment of traditional military benefits. Housing conditions, post exchanges, medical care, cumulative leaves and other long time and well established military privileges now being curtailed were listed as among those calling for prompt attention if required professional standards are to be maintained on an "every day basis."

The average Air Force investment in each enlisted man is $14,000. When this figure is multiplied by the current Air Force turnover, which numbers annually 180,000, it adds up to $2,500,000,000, a gigantic loss to our nation in manpower and money, Mr. Schaefer said. This loss can be cut appreciably by making the services more attractive so that a higher percentage of reenlistment occurs.

Mr. Schaefer further emphasized the urgent need for permanently trained and experienced military personnel with his belief that any future major conflict will be decided by substantially the same type of equipment and the same degree of trained personnel available to either side at the start of hostilities. He took the position that in the absence of a universal Christian concept for world peace the defense plans of America should, therefore, be based on an ever-ready-to-strike basis. In the event of open atomic conflict, he added, there will be no time available to train the manpower needed to operate advanced types of modern weapons.

In proof of this, he cited the terrific impact of the thermonuclear tests recently completed in the Pacific, the terrifying results of which are but gradually being revealed due, apparently, to the magnitude and the complexity of these tests. "We must either learn to live with our scientific progress or that progress has within it the elements of our destruction," said Mr. Schaefer.

In closing, Mr. Schaefer said, "the peace we all hope for can well be dependent upon the morale of those who today stand ready to preserve it with the mechanisms placed in their hands by the scientific and production genius of our great nation. And don't for one moment think our enemies are unmindful of this fact."

Former USAF and USN Officers Join Marquardt

Joseph B. Tuzen has joined the Application Engineering staff of Marquardt Aircraft Company, Van Nuys, Calif., according to J. Louis Reynolds, Director of Customer Relations.

Formerly with the Air Force, Tuzen attended New York University and Syracuse University where he obtained his Bachelor of Science degree in Mechanical Engineering; he later obtained his Master's degree at Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Tuzen has been associated with ramjet engine development since 1945 and was Chief of the Ramjet-Pulsejet Section, Powerplant Laboratory, Wright Air Development Center. His responsibilities at Marquardt will continue to be in the ramjet field.

Simultaneously, G. W. Carr, Director of Administration, announced the appointment of Harold A. Fisher as Acting Manager of Industrial Relations. Fisher has been associated with Marquardt in the Industrial Relations Department for six years prior to which he served in the Navy. He is a native of Denver, Colo., and attended Severn Preparatory School, Md., before going to the U. S. Naval Academy.

Col. Frank Sleeter Elected

Frank Sleeter, a WWII Army Colonel, has been elected vice president of Facilities Administration, Radio Corporation of America. Mr. Sleeter was Director of Plant Engineering until his appointment last January as Director of the Plant Facilities Administration.

A graduate of Chicago Technical College, Mr. Sleeter served during WWII as an Army colonel. He assisted in the formulation of wartime construction standards for the Army-Navy Munitions Board, and later served as a general staff officer in headquarters, Army Service Forces.

Sales Up, Debt Down, Martin Report Reveals

The Glenn L. Martin Company reports a substantial increase in earnings in the Annual Report for 1953, released this week. Sales for the year were $208,006,538 compared with sales of $143,999,382 for the previous year. Net income was $15,094,756, equivalent to $7.06 per share on 2,136,995 shares outstanding at the end of 1953, compared with $3.03 a share on 1,913,974 shares outstanding at the end of 1952.

During the past year interest bearing debt was reduced by $15,380,989 and at the end of the year amounted to $11,557,610 consisting of advances on contracts in the amount of $1,557,610 and bank loans of $10,000,000.

George M. Bunker, President, stated in his letter to stockholders that the currently strengthened financial status of the company and the satisfactory earnings in prospect for 1954 should place management in a position to deal effectively with the problems that arise from the constant changes inherent in the aircraft manufacturing industry. He stressed the great number and diversity of the research and development programs moving forward and stated that he felt confident that the Martin Company will maintain an important position in the industry.

The company is now producing the P5M-1 Marlin, an anti-submarine warfare seaplane for the Navy; also a modified version of the Marlin for the Coast Guard.

A radically new type of multi-jet seaplane, known as the XP6M-1 SeaMaster, is in the early stages of manufacture for the Navy and the Viking high altitude rocket is being built for the Naval Research Laboratory.

Production for the Air Force consists of the B-57 light bomber, including a night intruder version and a reconnaissance version. Also, the B-61 Matador, a pilotless aircraft or better known as a surface to surface guided missile.

Mare Island Base

service, Mare Island has taken part in four wars, built 488 ships for the fleet. Its growth has been matched, over a century, by that of the city of Vallejo which houses most of the island's labor force. Both the city of Vallejo and the naval activities within the Mare Island-Vallejo Area command are now busily planning for a colorful Mare Island Centennial, the four-day celebration of which will commence on 16 September 1954. The schedule will include an official dinner attended by top-ranking government, civic and military leaders, visits by U.S. fleet units and possibly foreign naval vessels, yacht regattas, fireworks, parades, a historical cavalcade, and the release of a book-length history of Mare Island. California's interest in the event is indicated by the fact that the State Legislature has already voted to proclaim a Mare Island Week throughout the state next September.

Army Band at Sunrise Service

The U. S. Army Band, directed by Maj. Hugh Curry, will furnish music for Easter Sunrise Service 18 April, outdoors in Walter Reed Army Medical Center's "Formal Gardens" at 7 a. m.

Post Chaplain (Lt. Col.) Alford V. Bradley, in charge of this year's service, will read the Easter Gospel. Recitation of The Lord's Prayer will be led by Walter Reed Chaplain (Capt.) Carey M. Young while the Benediction will be pronounced by Chaplain (Maj.) William R. S. Donaghy.

Vocal selections will be presented by the 120-voice choir of New York Avenue Presbyterian Church.

You'll get special attention from Journal advertisers—they cater to Service personnel.

U. S. COAST GUARD

Secretary of The Treasury—George M. Humphrey

Commandant—Vice Adm. Merlin O'Neill

HOSPITALIZATION and treatment of all members of the Coast Guard and their dependents in hospitals and other medical facilities of the Armed Forces is provided in a measure favorably reported this week by the Senate Armed Services Committee.

The bill states that such hospitalization and treatment will be provided by the Army, Navy, Air Force or Marine Corps if it "is not available at facilities operated by the Public Health Service."

The Committee reported that it feels "there is a pressing need to take care of such of those of the 26,000 members of the Coast Guard and their dependents who cannot avail themselves of Public Health facilities."

At present, active duty members of the Coast Guard serving at locations at which Public Health Service facilities are not available, may be hospitalized at Armed Forces facilities in the same manner and under the same terms as active-duty personnel of any of the military services. Dependents of CG personnel, however, receive no hospitalization or medical benefits unless PHS facilities are available.

"As a result," the Committee notes, "many situations are created in which dependents of Coast Guard personnel find themselves at a very serious disadvantage." The Committee concluded that remedial legislation "should be enacted without delay."

Add Warrant Names

A Coast Guard selection board, which convened on 22 March, recommended that the following names be added to warrant officer eligibility lists:

Radio Electrician List—Strohecker, Dale, E., ETC; Price, Alvah T., RMC. Machinist List—Eckman, James F., ENI; Anderson, Alan G., ENC.

four meetings has voted approval of EDC) expressed publicly "its profound regret." Meantime a Parisian mob, with all the stupidity which marks mobs, interrupted a solemn memorial at the Arc de Triomphe by breaking the lines and slapping at M. Laniel and Defense Minister Plevin. It is a certainty that the central sector command which NATO allotted to Marshal Juin will be held by a French officer, but it is unfortunate that so high an officer in NATO should get himself involved in the domestic aspects of EDC. That project, by the way, most certainly is not yet beaten. Luxembourg has now joined with Belgium, the Netherlands and West Germany in ratifying; Premier Scelba this week formally laid the treaty before the Italian parliament, over which that imperturbable foe of the Reds is showing unexpected authority; France can go either way, but it is doubtful if the Gaullist mob or the Juin indiscretion did the opposition cause much good.

FOREIGN AID for the coming year, as outlined to the House Foreign Affairs committee this week, will register some remarkable but readily understandable changes from former years. It will total $3,497,000,000 which, as expected, marks a $1 billion drop from the current year and a $2.5 billion drop from 1953. But it marks also a shift of balance from Europe to the Far East, so that we find the Far East and Pacific scheduled for $1,768,000,000 or slightly more than half the total, with Indo-China alone getting $1,133,000,000 of that large amount. Of that handsome sum, $800,000,000 will go as aid to the forces and will be administered through France, plus $300,000,000 in the form of direct support in equipment, the relatively small remainder making up economic and technical aid for that land. Europe, on the other hand, will receive a grand total of but $947,000,000, with the Near East, South Asia, and Africa getting $569,000,000, Latin America $47,000,000, and United Nations activities $165,000,000. How large is that reduction of aid to Europe, which for some years of rehabilitation got the lion's share, is suggested by the fact that economic assistance now has ceased altogether for Britain, France, Norway, Denmark, Belgium, Luxembourg, the Netherlands, Iceland, Austria, Portugal, and all of Germany save West Berlin. This is a momentous change in focus. The dominance of military aid today is further indicated by another classification, showing that of the $3,497 billion total, $1,580 millions is headed for mutual defense aid, $945 millions for direct forces support, and $223 millions for mutual defense support; these items total 78% of the total aid program. Among our non-military ventures, our technical aid (it was "Point 4" in a previous administration) is up from $107 to $131 millions, and mutterings because some of this is bound for India are curiously answered by assurance that, regardless of purely political utterances, this aid to the Indian people is to our future benefit.
